The model takes into account factors including the age of a rating, whether the ratings are from verified purchasers, and factors that establish reviewer trustworthiness. Please try again later. ZooMama 5.0 out of 5 stars This model is no longer made and I had no interest in the newer multi cd versions because of the stories of cds getting stuck, plus they're bulkier. I like this sleek low profile design.<http://droneducational.com/admin/userfiles/colt-1911a1-manual.xml>

The seller shipped it promptly and it was excellently packaged to prevent damage. The unit was clean, and remote, cable, and battery for the remote were included as advertised. This is an older piece but it is classic Bose it never goes out of style. The sound is amazing, the clock lights dim so they're not so bright at night something other alarm clocks I've had don't do and brighten when you adjust the volume or change the alarm time. Two alarm settings allow for a back up, always a plus for heavy sleepers and those like me who need MANY snoozes. Choose between mellow alarm beeps or any radio station from your preset to wake you up with a gradually increasing volume to about 57. That is probably my favorite feature instead of the jarring loud alarm, it gently wakes you up with gradually increasing volume. The CD player is under the control panel a gentle push opens and closes it. The sound, it's Bose so it's Perfect. Well worth the wait and the money. This unit can reach concert hall level sound depending on room size and acoustics. As for the one person who says that it does not read mp3 cds. It does. The book does say that it depends on how it was recorded which is commonplace with any cd. And to the one person that said that there are no bass and treble controls. You don't need them. The sound is so perfectly well balanced on its own. The book does mention that placement is very important to sound quality. Like in a corner increases the bass and more towards the edge of a shelf decreases bass etc. I bought mine used because I'm not sure if it is worth over 1000.00 dollars for a new one. I have a Bose sound dock 10 on which cost me around 600.00 dollars at a best buy and it can also achieve concert level sound. Overall I just used it for one day and so far am totally blown away by the sound. Tony D. The seller was wonderful to work with.

There was some confusion after the order was placed, because the picture as is here displayed was NOT the one I saw before I ordered. I had spent months reading details of several models, reading reviews, reviewing info about sellers, etc. I was shocked when this image showed up, as I had tried to order according to the text displayed with it, and a different seller. I did contact the seller and we each shared our details about the model I received and the image here, which DID not match the text. The confusion was resolved and I've been very happy with the product. Would highly recommend this product and seller. It only plays one CD at a time, but that works for me. I have all my favorite radio stations programmed in and can switch to them at the touch of a button. I am VERY happy I purchased this unit from this seller, and will consider them again if we decide to purchase another unit for a different area of our home. I was so excited when I found the used ones on Amazon. The product arrived in PERFECT condition, it looks and plays like new, and I am THRILLED with it!! It is exactly what I was hoping for. I didn't rate the remote control because the unit doesn't come with one. I highly recommend this product and the seller!! Thank you for such a great job! Julie The item was described as in very good condition, as it was used. Unfortunately this was by far not the case. The music system was dirty and dusty all around and I had to clean it inside out. For a regular internet seller I would have expected that they would go over the selling item and at least have the courtesy to remove dirty finger prints. The rating therefore goes to the seller, the item as such is fine. Always wanted one and it's great creating paintings and listening to what I want to play. What do I do now Thanks. I lifted the bottom up to take out the cd, and now i cant insert a cd into the player.

Have you had any success yet After removing the five screws, flip the device right side up, then simply lift the cover off. It's a tight fit and there's not much clearance, but if you lift the cover straight up, you'll be fine. It goes without saying that you have to unplug the power cord from the back of the device. With the cover off, it's easy to follow how the CD is going into the machine and being ejected. In my case, there was just enough friction during the loading process to prevent the device from pulling the CD into the caddy completely, but I found that if I tapped the CD as it went in, this overcame the friction. I left in the screw nearest the back to safeguard alignment. Grabbed the one of the two cds I had forced in. When I turned on the unit again it smoothly ejected the properly loaded disc. Plays perfectly now. Thanks so much for your help; like an early Christmas present! There ended up being a homemade cd stuck inside, and the cd label somehow came loose, causing a paper jam with the cd being stuck. All is well! Thanks a million. Plays great again. I tried the shaking and holding upside down thing that has worked before, but this time it didn't. I've found that the non-professional cds with paper labels will many times cause this problem. Will try to stay away from those! Many thanks. Followed your instructions and it is working PERFECTLY again. Thank you! No unscrewing needed! Thank you. It would not budge even when using small pliers. Thought What now So I plugged the power cord in. CD tray came to life, and I was able to remove the disc. Reassembled the Bose, and tried another CD original ruined. Played, and ejected faultlessly. I have been using it for a few yrs. now. I was in a panic that it was broken !! My daughter would not be a happy camper !! I followed your instructions and so far so good. Thanks so much !! The unplug trick worked. Thanks! I am guessing you need this information. Bob I tried all the tricks to no avail.

Unscrewed, had to move two metal things to get the disc out. Wouldnt play, cd error message then a no cd message. I have the extra cd thing that plays 3 cds, so am OK with it. To find exact instructions on my first search is a wonder to behold. LinShall Thanks for saving the musical part of this Christmas season of 2014. Have had it only since May of 2014. mrkeeze I noticed the very edge of the CD at the opening of the slot. Worth a try before attempting other methods. Somehow I had managed to put two CDs in the slot. I did not realize that there were two inside till I followed your instructions and removed them. It took all of five minutes to get up and playing again. Previously, I was just able to unscrew the bottom and grab the cd and it popped out that is when I found the dime. I reinserted a cd and the cd was stuck again. I could see the cd but I as luck would have it the cd seemed permanently embedded in the machine after multiple tries at pushing, pulling the cd from the encasement. As I unscrewed the second screw it appears that the mechanism allowed the cd to exit without effort. After the cd was released I did screw the screws back into where they belonged. Plays my cds faultlessly again my Bose is over 12 years old!. BUT why do the cds that come in simple cardboard envelopes e.g. from Germany, or South Africa Im in the US usually not play when inserted and in this last instance then get stuck. Are they thinner than normal. I thought cd production standards were the same worldwide. Heres what did work I put the cover back on, picked up the player and shook the daylight out of it. Removed the cover again, found the caddy had opened and the CD accessible. Now will the same problem happen again. If so, Ill either junk the thing or buy a cheap CD player and just plug it in to the Bose for use of its speakers. Sending it to Bose for repair is useless. They no longer service this device model. The CD Repair FAQ. But let me write about maintenance here.

I find that many of todays product owners use their devices for years without ever getting them cleaned or maintained. After years there is a chance that oil and lubes can harden and there goes the device. To make matters worse the makers dont get enough units into repair to make it worth keeping the repair system running. So when it gets about 5 years old, you cant get it fixed by the maker. You hear your music with clear, full, accurate sound. All from a system that fits virtually anywhere—living room end table, kitchen counter or bedside table. No big speakers. No wires running around your room. Proprietary Bose technologies automatically perform many of the adjustments needed for highperformance audio. So you can enjoy the performance of a large, multicomponent stereo without setting a row of controls. You may find yourself listening to music more often and enjoying it more. It's really that simple. And the CD player lets you hear your music the way you like with repeat, random and continuous play. Top quality build with excellent DAB radio with plenty of stations available. I think the latest system iv is even better. Great CD player with room filling sound, DAB RADIO IS AWESOME. I recommend this system to anyone who is looking for a compact system with lots of power. Customer service is very thoughtful also. I find it very compact and produces sound as if it was a much larger system.

However, by adding the SoundTouch Pedestal it will work together with other SoundTouch systems to let you play music wirelessly throughout your home. Hear the same music everywhere, or different music in different rooms. SoundTouch products use the SoundTouch app, while the Bose Home Speaker family uses the Bose Music app. However, Apple device owners can use Apple AirPlay 2 to group the Wave music system with SoundTouch Pedestal and the Bose Home Speaker family products for multiroom synchronized playback. Apple AirPlay 2 requires a WiFi connection. However, by adding the SoundTouch Pedestal it will work with Apple AirPlay 2 allowing access to Apple Music and other music services via a WiFi connection. Thanks in advance. Apologies if this is not the correct one or if youve been here already Would gladly give better score if I knew how. We had a cat that slept on it and would push the buttons at random. We had lost the manual, so couldnt figure it out. Or go to page 38 in the linked file.
